and a four-hour drive to the service centre of Reno. Zinc and copper are currently on the USGS list of metals critical to the US economy and national security.

On November 27, 2023, the Company filed its updated 43-101 Mineral Resource estimate on www.sedar.com and is available on the Company's website. The updated 43-101 Mineral Resource incorporates results from the last three drill programs and highlights of the report include:

- Increase in confidence in the geological model with the upgrade of approximately 48% of the resource to the indicated Mineral Resource category.
- The zinc grade of the Mineral Resource estimate has increased by approximately 22% and the zinc equivalent grade has increased by approximately 35%, respectively, as compared to the prior Mineral Resource estimate issued in 2018.
- The increase in grades and contained metals sets the stage for a Preliminary Economic Assessment ("PEA") to better understand the economic viability of the project and determine the next steps in advancing the Blue Moon project.

The Company is currently reviewing the next phase of work for the Blue Moon project including a PEA, which will be subject to additional financing.

On March 1, 2022, the Company announced the discovery of an additional massive sulphide zone located to the west of the current resource, referred to as the South Zone, which remains open to the south and up dip. Blue Moon Metals Inc.MANAGEMENT'S DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS

For the three months ended March 31, 2024

Mineral exploration and development is typically a seasonal business, and accordingly, the Company's administrative expenses and cash requirements will fluctuate depending upon the season. The Company's primary source of funding is through the issuance of common shares. When capital markets are depressed, the Company's activity level normally declines accordingly. As capital markets strengthen and the Company is able to secure equity financing on favourable terms, the Company's activity levels and the size and scope of planned exploration and development programs will also increase.

During the three months ended September 30, 2023, the Company began work on its updated resource estimate.

During the three months ended June 30, 2023, March 31, 2023 and December 31, 2022, the Company completed field work to ensure the property was maintained to conform with permits and county regulations.

During the three months ended September 30, 2022, and June 30, 2022, the Company minimized expenditures to preserve cash.

CONTRACTUAL OBLIGATIONS

The Company has no off-balance sheet arrangements, no capital lease agreements and no contractual obligations. Neither the Company nor any of its subsidiaries has any externally imposed capital requirements. The Company has no proposed transactions.

FINANCIAL INSTRUMENT RISK

The Board of Directors has overall responsibility for the establishment and oversight of the Company's risk management framework. The Company has exposure to liquidity and credit risks from the use of financial instruments. Financial instruments consist of cash, restricted cash, receivables, due to related parties, and accounts payable and accrued liabilities.

Liquidity risk

Liquidity risk is the risk that the Company will be unable to meet its financial obligations as they come due. Certain conditions cast significant doubt on the Company's ability to meet its financial obligations. Refer to Liquidity and Capital Resources for more information regarding the Company's liquidity risk.

Credit risk

The Company is exposed to credit risk on its bank accounts, restricted cash and receivables. To reduce credit risk, substantially all cash is on deposit at Canadian chartered banks. Receivables consist of Canadian excise taxes receivable and other amounts due from government agencies. Restricted cash are deposits held by the Bureau of Land Management in Nevada. Accordingly, the Company considers its exposure to credit risk minimal.

Market Risk

Market risk is the risk of loss that may arise from changes in market factors such as interest rates, foreign exchange rates, and commodity and equity prices.

Interest rate risk

The Company has cash balances which are not subject to significant risks in fluctuating interest rates. The Company's current policy is to invest excess cash in investment-grade short-term deposit certificates issued by its banking institutions. The Company periodically monitors the investments it makes and is satisfied with the credit ratings of its banks. An increase to interest rates by 1% would have an insignificant effect on the Company's operations.

Foreign currency risk

The Company is exposed to foreign currency risk on fluctuations related to cash, restricted cash, receivables and accounts payable and accrued liabilities that are denominated in US dollars.

Sensitivity Analysis

The Company through a subsidiary operates in the United States and is exposed to exchange risk from changes in the US dollar. A 10% fluctuation in the US dollar against the Canadian dollar would have a minimal impact on the Company's loss and comprehensive loss.

Price risk

The Company is exposed to price risk with respect to commodity and equity prices. Equity price risk is defined as the potential adverse impact on the Company's earnings, or ability to obtain equity financing, due to movements in individual equity prices or general movements in the level of the stock market. The Company's marketable securities are subject to price risk. Commodity price risk is defined as the potential adverse impact on earnings and economic value due to commodity price movements and volatilities. The Company closely monitors commodity prices of zinc, copper, lead, silver, individual equity movements, and the stock market to determine the appropriate course of action to be taken by the Company.
